

NABU Auditor: announcement of committee hearings

07.07.2017

On July 12 at 3 pm the Parliamentary anticorruption committee will conduct interviews with candidates for NABU auditor from the Parliament. Yegor Sobolyev, the head of the committee invites all interested to attend this hearing.

Nigel Brown as well as some other candidates have already confirmed their presence for the date of interviews. Carlos Castresana and Martha Boersch, candidates supported by the civil society, will be interviewed via skype.

There is high likelihood that disregarding results of the interviews the majority of the committee will support candidacy of Oleksandra Yanovska, a human rights lawyer and a law professor, who doesn't have track record of law enforcement experience, as well as corruption investigations.

There are big chances that NABU auditor will be appointed by the Parliament on July 13, which is the last day of plenary session in the parliament before summer recess.